

Katy smiles, takes a deep breath,
and raises her hand timidly.
Mrs. Brown calls on her.

"These are my grampas, and know what?" She pauses, starting to get excited. "They're married . . .
TO EACH OTHER!" The kids clap and Shakti cheers, making Katy laugh.

“What are some fun things you like to do with your grandpas?” asks Mrs. Brown. Katy thinks before responding.

“We’ve done so many FUN things. But my favorite thing is playing in their backyard! They have a HUGE two-story treehouse AND a tire swing that goes over a big waterfall!”

Payton exclaims, “Wow! Where do you get one of those?”
Katy giggles. “You have your grandpas build it!”

Mrs. Brown comes over to Katy. "You did a great job talking in front of the class! I know that was scary for you. Thank you for sharing your grandpas with us today."

Grampa Jack leans down to Katy. "Great job today! How about we end the day with some ice cream?" Katy cheers and says, "Let's go!"
