Hero Kids in the Making

... In the old tree lived some magical beings and these amazing creatures could find and do some marvelous things.

They used their magic to perform special tricks,
that helped kids become superheroes
when they were sick.

The first of these creatures were small silver mice.
They were as shiny as metal but gentle and nice.

They lived in small nests at the top of the tree, and used their large ears to hear and their big eyes to see.

It was actual superpowers the mice could see and hear,
In a kid's heartbeat, eyes, nose, mouth, and ears...
