

Dream Data

I had a dream I was a neutrino hanging out with some photons
We were going a similar speed anyway They showed up in a particular manner and left with a wave but here's what I learned:

Every Thing is a reflective projector Even if our perception isn't sensitive enough to perceive it
By reflection, refraction and absorption its properties altering and encoding the photons with which it interacts

Light is the measure of all matter and it's all just a matter of Time

With that,

I wish you a good day, Sunshine