

Quote from The Compass Point

Ch. 45“Reason?” Rothschild looked at Archie as if he had said the most preposterous thing. “There’s no fire in reason: no bread and circuses. Think of Orwell’s feelies. Entertain them, distract them, and light a fire under their feelings against those who disagree. That’s how to create truth.”